Details

Although there were previously only two national federations, players from other nations could still take part if they were members of one of these two billiards federations. Josef Klinger was Austrian and ... Wertheim was German.

The matches were played over a longer period of time. Often only one game took place on one day.

Exact results and more informations are missing.

Charles Darantière averaged over 20 in two of his three games.

Arthur Francois won against Alfred Mortier.
