400 points without equal innings. 3 National teams with three players. Each player played against all the players from the other team.

Tournament average: 7,52 (14758 / 1961)

As the match points were not decisive for the final ranking, but the game points and, in the event of a tie, the average, Belgium was declared the winner.

Details

Although there were three national federations, players from other nations could still take part if they were members of one of these billiards federations. Josef Klinger was Austrian.

There was a German team at the start, although the "Deutscher Amateur Billard Bund" was only founded a year later. But in 1910 there was already a "Verband Deutscher Amateur Billard Clubs", based in Berlin.

Paul Lejeune was registered for France under the pseudonym "Janssaud", but had to cancel at short notice due to illness, meaning that France only had two players. Paul Lejeune's scheduled games were all scored with 2:0 match points for his opponents.

... Gay (BE) played under the pseudonym "Morris". One year later he started for France.
